May's regular live - Management meeting

New plan: "Live Theater Cover Challenge"

1st day (Sat)

There's not a lot of time, but this will surely end up being a big plus for everyone, and with this, the Live Theater will be put on the right track in one go!

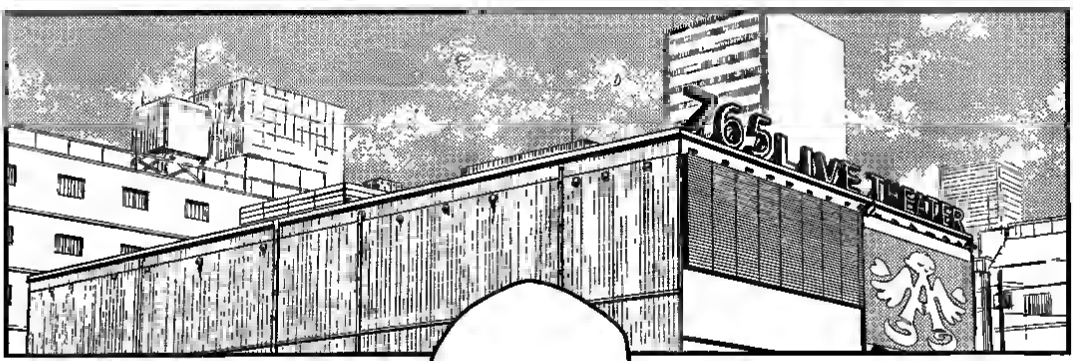
In the regular live two weeks from now, we'll go with this new plan of attack.

Th- then everyone agrees?



We still don't have many songs of our own yet, right?
So we'll create a corner where we sing cover songs.
This will surely be a live where both new and returning customers get more fired up than ever.

Here's the project proposal
It's the new plan for the public performance.
The Producer and the current management members came up with it.

...Shizuka-chan, you deceived me.

You just joined the office last week, there's no way you're already going to get a live.
I thought something was strange about the way you were acting earlier...

We need a strong fighting spirit that can surpass this stage.
If I can pull off these dance moves better than you, Shizuka-chan, then can I go home for today?
